

Montessori Citizens: Continuing the Science!

We need your help.

Dr. Angeline Lillard and her research team at the University of Virginia are seeking participants for a study of people's lives and school histories, and they would be grateful for your participation in an anonymous online survey. It should only take 15-20 minutes and will help provide important information on whether and how school experiences might relate to life outcomes. Please forward to others (over 18 in North America) who might be able to participate.

Please access the survey through this direct link or copy and paste into your browser:
